Tuesday and Wednesday, February 25 and 26. Matinee Each Day at 2:30.

"VIRTUOUS WIVES," featuring Anita Stewart, Conway Tearle and other noted characters, in the famous novel by Owen Johnson, direct from the Queen Theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Forrester, blissfully happy in the first few weeks of their married life, comfortably settled in a "small" New York apartment of fourteen rooms and three baths, made possible by his income of $25,000 a year, are devoted in their mutual admiration for each other.

Maurice Delabarre, steel magnate offers Andrew $50,000 a year for five years to go to Colorado and develop one of his holdings. Delabarre invites them to his country estate. The visit succeeds in greatly impressing Andrew Forrester with Amy's enchained beauty and charm against a background of lavish elegance. Irma Delabarre, a social idol and butterfly offers to entertain Amy, while Andrew is absent in the West. Monte Bracken, a social waster, falls in love with Amy to the surprise of Irma, who also secretly cherishes an affection for him. Irma writes a note warning to Andrew, who returns at once to New York. Amy refuses his demand that she pack and go West with him immediately.

What is virtue in a wife? This story goes to show the individual responsibilities of the husband and wife. When a man fights for wealth and power he is unconsciously undermining the foundations of his domestic happiness. This is shown in the neglect of the wife. Amy Forrester played by Miss Stewart, confronts this problem when her husband ignores all other domestic considerations excepting that of providing money for the enhancement of her social position and tells her to play in society. Then he is forced to confront her with the question. Are you a virtuous wife?
